CLAMORING FOR TICKETS. CHICAGO, June 2.—The excitement upon the morning of the opening day of the Convention is intense. All the political headquarters are thronged. The rooms of the National Committee at the Paimer House are surrounded by three thousand people clamoring for tickets.

The preparations at the Exposition Hall are complete and all in readiness for the Convention. The Convention will be called to order at 12 o'clock by Senator Cameron, and the proceed nga will be opened by a prayer by Rev. Dr. Kittredge, of the Third Presbyterian Church. Cameron will then propose Senator Hoar for Temporary Chairman, who will be elected with-e in which Lincoln formerly lived.

Mr. Hoar will call for business, and Senator Cameron, by direction of the National Committee, will nominate several Secretaries, Sergeant-at and other officers that have been chosen. The roll of States will then be called for nomi ms for committees on cedentials, permament organization and resolutions.

A PRELIMINARY CANVASS. A canvass was made late last night by reporter ation to ascertain how they would vote on mished by the chairmen of the de egations and others are estimated on the best information obtained at delegation headquarters, and all are based on the supposition that the unit rule will

BLAINE DEMONSTRATIONS, ETC.

The Blaine Club of Maine, headed by a band, last night serenaded the various Blaine delegations at the hotels. General Mansfield, of California, during a response, said that the latest accurate claim was on the first ballot $22 votes for Blaine, and the second ballot would result in his nomination.

The scenes on the streets last night were of a lively character. Torchlight processious were marching in all directions, headed by bands of music, and cheering for their favorite candidates. The Blaine beering for their favorite that the speech last night Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts, stated that twenty-two of that State's delegation would surely vote for their man. The Mississippi delegation say they hope to see Conkling brought forward in case the men of their first choice become impossible. The Minnesota men are sparing no efforts or work for Windom. To-night they scattered among the other States. HOAR TO BE TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN.

The contest in the National Committee is ended at last, so far as the Committee is concerned. The result was a compromise whereby both the Grant and anti-Grant managers have agreed to leave all matters of controversy as to the enforcement of the unit rule in the organization of the Convention to the discretion of Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, whom both have ag eed shall act as tempo ary Chairman of the Convention. Both sides have made concessions. The Grant managers have yielded the point for which they so long contended, that the unit rule should be eaforced in the organization of the Convention, because it is well known that Senator Hoar is opposed to that rule, and will undoubtedly rule against it.

The Grant men also conceded their plan to make a contest of the Temporary Chairmanship of the Convention, and Conkling, Cameron and Logan have pledged themselves not to countenance any attempt to run an opposition candidate to Mr. Hoar. The Blaine men have given up their determination of deposing Cameron from the Chairmanship of the Committee, and have made concessions in regard to the admission of contesting delegates to take part in the temporary organization.

THE COOK COUNTY QUARREL.

Practically they have conceded, so far as the Committee is concerned, the whole Cook County entroversy, which for three days and until yesterday was almost the sole topic of conversation on the part of the Blaine delegates, and was asserted to be the leading issue in which the anti-Grant men intended to make a fight. The anti-Grant men have not conceded that Senator Logan was right in excluding the county delegates, nor have they conceded that what are known as the Farwell anti-Grant delegates shall be excluded from the Convention, but they have agreed to let the Convention bettle that question instead of the Committees, and have consented that the Grant delegat on, and not the Farwell delegation, shall be admitted to participate in the organization of the Convention, that is to say, they decided to admit the regular State delegation, which has indersement of the Springfied Convention, thereby ranking the county anti-Grant delegates as contestants whose claims are to be considered by the National Convention. This concession on the part of the Blaine men will give Grant some additional votes.

THE COLORED DELEGATES.

At the Palmer House the colored delegates held as meeting in the corridor at 8 p. m., and presented Senator Bruce a firal horse shoe and amounced him as the colored people's candidate for the Vice-Presidency. Williams, of Ohio, made the presentation speech. Senator Bruce replied with a simple "I thank you." During the speaking the corridors and stairs were so crowded that a jam occurred which had to be cleared away by the polite, and there were serious fears of people being crowded to death.

Mr. Storrs, Richard Tuthill and Wright were appointed a committee to prepare for the National Committee a statement in the interest of the Grant "Pnalanx" of the state of affairs in Illinois.

MICHIGAN.

The Michigan delegates met and, after passing a resolution deprecating a third term, received the following report from the Committee on Unit Rule, which was unanimously adopted:
"Resolved, By this delegation from the State of Michigan to the Republican National Convention, That we respectfully request the National Committee not to adopt the so-called unit rule, as being in violation of the universal practice of the Republican party."

There was only one dissented.

NEW YORK MEETING. The New York delegation held an excited three and a half h urs's:ssion, resulting in the new form of pressure upon the bolting members of the delegation. The fear that an effort might be made to oust entirely the twenty-two delegates, and the general uncertainty of the situation, filled the upper corridors of the Grand Pacific with a dense crowd of excited men.

Geo. H. Sharpe, of Kingston offered a resolution that the dele ation vote as a unit, and that the Chairman be instructed to east the 70 votes of the State for Gene at Grant.

FEATURES OF THE OPENING.

Exp. sition Building-Noon-June 2 .- The excitement has luiled since the National Committee settled their differences last night, and there is small prospect of a row. There is an enormous crowd everywhere. The lines are blocked all slong leading up to the building.

There is the usual dissatisfaction with press arrangements. The betting is still on Grant at less odds, however, and the anti-Grant men are more confident. They claim 469 votes on the first bal-first ballot, Colonel R. C. Parson being the au- lot and 470 against the Unit Rule. They a'so shall fill it without respect of person or of desire claim a majority of the Committee on Rules.

The latest estimates of the first ballot are: Grant, 313; Blaine, 290; Sherman, 125; Washpieces, probably the greater portion of the vote goes to Sherman, unless Washburne springs on the Convention. Blaine's friends claim enough of the Grant vote to nominate him.

The body of the hall is now slowly filling up with delegates, and the stage and the gallery with invited gues:s. The band is playing "Heart bowed down." Fred. Douglass was the first familiar face to appear on the platform. He went down among the first-arriving delegates and should be a support of the constraint of the stage of the constraint of the constraint of the stage of the shook hands, continuing his constantly-repeated Grant talk.

The seat arrangements are alphabetical, which placed the small States in front and the heavy States-Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania on the left, in the rear of the delegates'division Big shield-shaped flags were placed in position this morning, and waved above on staffs, hiding the delegates' faces. Many of the delegations marched in bodies by the hall with music, bu marched in bodies by the half with music, but entered only in scattering groups. There is much red tupe and the coupon ticket taking caused the immense building to fill slowly.

At noon only scattered groups dotted the ten thousand seats and the arrivals of delegates filled that section fester than any other. At the hour fixed for calling to order, not over four thousand ware in the building and no one ware on the were in the building and no one was on the stage. There was a noticable absence of invited and distinguished guests. The music of the band was scarcely heard above the hum of voices, so great is the space.

It was almost ten minutes after 12 when George A. Hol sey and first member of the National Committee took his seat on the platform. oment later Conkling and Arthur came in at the head of a large section of the New York delegation, and was cheered as the band struck up a fresh tune. Calm and self-possessed, he acknowledged with a cold bow the reception as he turned towards his seat. He stood in the aisle at the end of the bench some moments, and shook hands with many friends holding quite a levee, New Jersey, with Kilpatrick and Senator Potts at their head, took pisces, and Conkling shook hands with the entire delegation in a friendly way, although every man in it is against him in this Convention, as they were four years sgo at

Three or four ex-Governors straggled on the stage, and were followed by Postmaster James ex Secretary Marshall Jewell, Edward McPherson who presided at the Cincinnati Convention ex-Senator Bette, Grant and Robeson's friends Judge Dittenhoffer, Senator Jones of Nevada, An drew Chaffee of Colorado, Gov. Arthur and Senator Logan came on the stage to gether without any recognition by the crowd At 1:05 o'clock Secretaries McKee, Roberts, Bar clay and Judge Clesby, the latter of whom is to furnish the voice for the Convention, having been several years Reading Clerk of the House of Representatives.

They took their places at the front of the plat form. There was a long delay in the organiza-tion, caused by difficult es over the tickets already alluded to. At 1 o'clock there were still two thousand vacant seats, with one hundred thousand outsiders endeavoring to get in, and more than enough tickets issued to fill every corner of

High prices were paid for seats, and in some in-stances it is said as much as fifty dollars. Chicago papers for the last three days had numerous advertisements offered to buy seats, and seats were

The Ohio detegation came in last of all. Gen eral Garfield and Governor Dennison sat together. Charley Foster, who expects in a contingency to be Vice Pres dent, was not with them. During the delay Logan sat with pencil and paper behind conkling in the seats of the New York delegation and had a long, close conversation.

F. Hoar.

[Loud app'ause.] GEO. P. HOAR TAKES THE CHAIR. Governors Davis, of Texas, Wm. B. Frye, of Maine, and Green B. Raum were appointed committee to conduct him to the Chair. Mr. Hoar said: Gentlemen, accept my thanks for this distinguished mark of confidence.

The framers of the Constitution expected President to be chosen by electors from the States. In case of failure the House of Representatives to choose. So far from the direct popular vote did they consequently remove the President.

The two great political parties choose each man to whom the people are practically restricted. The duty of this Convention is to choose one of hese candidates. If it does wisely it will nam the man who will be successful. [Applause.]
The duty is confided to the most distinguished citizen of the Republic. The stormy Convention of Chicago selected the noble Lincoln, which gave it its first success. [Applause.]

Lincoln has gone to his rest. His companion upon the ticket is fresh and vigorous, and is present to-day. [Applause for Hamlin.] Lincoln has gone with many of his brave conquerors, but the party is the same, unchanged in principle, char-acter and purpose. The Democratic party is ruled nowas then by the stalwarts of the South and heir Northern friends. In pursuit of that end every great public interest was sacrificed or disregarded. They expend-ed little for public improvements; yet in 1860 six per cent. bonds were below par and the Treasury empty. Our money was scattered over the four quarters of the globe, and 4,000,000 citizens were in ndage. At last, as the Democratic party let go its hold on power, the National flag seemed about to be folded and laid ande as the emblem of an experiment in rolities. The Democrat has been a partisan of fraud in Southern and Northern States, one of which, Maine, it attempted to steal. He closed as follows: "My friends. Gov. McCormick shouted that he had offered a resolution, and demanded that it be read. The member from Utah said his Territory had no been called, and Mr. Hoar said he would call it if there was no objection. Mr. Conkling sp-ang to his feet and said: "There is objection, sir!" [Applause.] The Chair stated that he would not hold that it was our of order to call the Territory. Conkl ng asked if it was in order for him to move to amend by adding Lou siana. Hoar: "un doubtedly." Conkling added that he did not appeal, but it was the agreement that everybody was to stand by the roll. Frye stated that it was agreed that Utah should be put on the roll and said she was left off by mistake. Hoar ruled that Utah should be admitted. Governor McCormick's resolution was read. It asked that a roll of the States be called for the sentation of credentials and for notices of contests, all to be referred to the committee without debate. Adopted without dissent. The roll call showed that the credentials of most the delegation committee and the Chairman said that would be considered in compliance with the resolution.
